The AOTrauma Europe (AOTEU) Education Committee has created a program of eleven AOTEU regional Masters level courses in 2014 focused on the needs of experienced surgeons. These events are special topic seminars and courses that include anatomical specimen dissection practical exercises.

AOTrauma regional Masters level courses teach current concepts and understanding at a high level for experienced learners in orthopaedic trauma.

The latest techniques in operative fracture management, dealing with the toughest orthopaedic trauma problems are presented.

Course content includes open group discussions that are led by experts in the field providing an overview of current subject knowledge.

Personal preferences will be expressed and treatment methods for particular problems presented and discussed.

Participants registering for these courses will have a personal history of many years of orthopaedic trauma surgical experience. In order to make the course a valuable learning experience, knowledge of English is a prerequisite.
